Gualedguaychú will not abandon the struggle

Entre Ríos – A week away from the start of the hearings at the International Court of Justice of The Hague, the Gualedguaychú assembly members again leaded yesterday an important protest rally against Botnia's Finnish pulp mill, and ratified they will not abandon the protest even in the case of an adverse ruling.

Under the slogan "The truth cries out, away with Botnia", the protest march to the General San Martin International Bridge was unified under a claim to the international tribunal so that it orders the "dismantling" of the plant operating in the Uruguayan town of Fray Bentos, while at the same time repudiated those opinions voiced from the neighbouring country stating that the Court will issue a "Solomonic" ruling that will allow resuming the bilateral conversations.
